

COUNSELING TIPS FOR NUTRITION THERAPISTS: PRACTICE WORKBOOK

TABLE OF CONTENTS VOLUME 3

---

Tip #51	Setting Professional Limits Around Fees	1
	Policies for nutrition practices	2
	When a Client Repeatedly Cancels Appointments	3
	Learning From Resentment	5
Tip #52	Matching Your Client's Style and Language	10
	Case Study: Taking Culture Into Account	11
	How Our Language Affects the Process of Change	13
Tip #53	How to Handle Gifts From Clients	16
	What About Giving Gifts to Clients?	18
Tip #55	Ambivalence to Change	20
	Developing Discrepancy: Working With Conflicting Intentions	21
	The Power of "And"	26
	Using Reframes	27
	A Steady Client Who Isn't Making Changes	28
Tip #59	Providing Advice	31
	Supporting Client Autonomy	33
	Supervision for Asking Permission	34
	Handouts Are Advice, Too	36
	Effective Review of Food Records	38
Tip #60	Open and Closed Questions	42
	Open-Ended Questions to Further the Process of Change	43
	Elaboration Questions Further the Change Process	48
	Key Questions	49
	Question Traps to Avoid	50
Tip #61	How to Shift Your Counseling to Mindful Eating	53
Tip #62	Family Members of Clients	56
	Issues With Having a Client's Spouse in a Session	58
	What About Split Households?	61
Tip #63	Affirming	63
Tip #65	The Righting Reflex & How It Gets Us in Trouble	66
	What You Don't Know Can Help You	67
Tip #68	Hope and Grief in Nutrition Counseling	70
	Grieving as a Normal Process	72
Tip #69	Change Talk	75
	Responding to Change Talk	76
	Encouraging Change Talk	77

Tip #70	Borderline Personality Disorder	82
Tip #71	How to Discuss (Or Not) Our Size With Clients	85
Tip #72	Summarizing	89
	A Format for Summaries	91
Tip #73	Advancing Your Skills	93
	Pushing Your Skills Envelope	95
	Providing Feedback to Others	98
	This Is Hard, Take Care of Yourself	100
	My Experience With the Danger of Comfort	101
Tip #74	To Weigh or Not to Weigh?	104
Tip #75	Ending Treatment	109
Tip #76	Scaling Questions	114
Tip #77	Professional Working Relationships	119
	Case Example: Building a Relationship With an Eating-Disorders Therapist	122
Tip #78	Understanding Trauma	126
	Case Example: Dissociation	128
Tip #79	Choice Points in Your Career	132
	Case Study: Being Flattered Into a Bad Decision	135
Tip #81	How to Bring Up Tough Stuff	137
	Example From a WIC Clinic	138
	Addressing Myths and Misinformation	139
	An example of addressing a myth:	140
	Addressing Irrational Beliefs	141
	More examples:	142
	Addressing Dangerous Behavior Using FRAMES	143
Tip #82	Issues of a Home Office	146
	Structure Your Environment	146
	If You Are Concerned for Your Safety	147
	Maintain Professional Boundaries	148
	Setting Up Your Office	150
Tip #83	When You Make a Mistake	152
	Case Example: When You Make a Mistake	153
	Forgive Yourself	154
Tip #84	Working With Groups	156
	Advantages of working with groups:	156
	Disadvantages of groups:	156
	A Random Collection of Strategies for Groups	157
	Attending to Language in Groups	162
	Problems That Arise in Groups	165
	Our Role in Groups	170